D3. BACKGROUND

D3.1 The Carnegie building, a designated heritage building, is located at 380 William Avenue and is currently used by the City Clerk's Department, City Archives and Records Control to house the City's records storage.

The original two story structure, with a 7,650 S.F. footprint, was constructed in 1905 as the Carnegie Library. In approximately 1908, an addition of 3,740 S.F., also two stories in height and of similar construction, was constructed on the south side of the original building. Both the original building and the addition were supported on a full basement constructed from multiwythe stone masonry foundations. The basements were originally founded on shallow footings made from concrete and stone and later received stabilization by means of under-pinning.

In 2005, Crozier Kilgour & Partners Ltd. were hired to complete an audit of the building structure for the Civic Accommodations Division. The Building Structure Audit, dated September 2005, determined that the building's two greatest priorities were to upgrade the foundation and to perform repairs to the façade to maintain the integrity of the structure. Repairs to the foundation were completed in 2009 and the masonry façade repairs were completed in 2011.

In 2010, Cibinel Architects Ltd. were engaged to review the existing building and program. The Facility Renewal and Redevelopment Strategy, dated December, 2010, developed an upgrading plan to be phased over a six year period. The focus of the strategy was to ultimately create a climate controlled archival vault for the capability of long term artefact preservation. Subsequent construction and restoration work, outside of the archival vault, was recommended in order to enhance the building's functionality.

Following the recommendations made in the Facility Renewal and Redevelopment Strategy, the next step in upgrading the facility requires replacement of the existing roof structure, existing roofing, redesign of roof slopes and relocation of the internal roof drainage system. The existing roof structure has received some strengthening measures previously and the existing roofing is in poor condition. Currently, the roof drainage system is located near the centre of the building's footprint. Relocation near the building's perimeter is required to eliminate conflict with the proposed vault construction.

NOTE: It is imperative that the facility remain open and operational throughout the roof upgrade project. Therefore the proposed roof reconstruction methodology and sequencing must make the prevention of water damage, to the building and/ or building contents, of utmost priority.
