D3.1 With a population close to 850,000, the City of Winnipeg (the City) is the capital and largest city in Manitoba and a central transport hub in Canada. Winnipeg is known for extreme weather conditions, including winter storms and spring floods. Climate change is anticipated to intensify these conditions and frequency of events.

When natural and human-made hazards (e.g., tornadoes, floods, storms, and fires) hit urban areas like Winnipeg, they can damage trees, buildings, infrastructure and homes and produce significant quantities of debris. The type, volumes and rapid processing of this material may overwhelm the City's regular waste management operations and could force the City to use disposal options that otherwise would not be acceptable. Debris removal is an important key to timely recovery of business, the viability of neighbourhoods and the continuity of government. Failure to act in a timely manner may impact community health and economic recovery.

Disaster debris management is a complex, costly and logistically challenging undertaking. A Disaster Debris Management Plan is needed to guide the City through the procedures and logistics required for effective, coordinated, environmentally responsible recovery options, including planning, implementation, monitoring, and reporting.

The Solid Waste Services Division of the Water and Waste Department will act as the City's lead for the development of the Disaster Debris Management Plan. The Division will provide waste tonnage data for material managed by the City, along with information on collections contracts, City waste management facilities and any other pertinent information/data.

The Disaster Debris Management Plan will be a sub-plan and developed in collaboration with the Office of Emergency Management (OEM) and other departments that make up the City's Debris Management Coordination Group. This plan will be a part of the City's overall Emergency Plan (EP), which is maintained by the OEM. The OEM oversees emergency planning and coordination in Winnipeg. It collaborates with the province and other agencies to plan, mobilize resources during emergencies, and conduct post-event analysis. If an incident, emergency or disaster situation requires activation of the City's Emergency Operations Centre (EOC) and the function of debris management is part of the overall response, the Debris Management Coordination Group would be assembled.

The Disaster Debris Management Plan will inform, align with and complement the City's EP and OEM's coordination framework. OEM and other City departments will provide information to support debris forecasting and information related to City operations involved in debris management during and after an emergency event.

- D3.2 The City recently reviewed its Waste Management Strategy, which includes 16 recommended short and longer-term actions. One of the recommendations is to prepare a Disaster Debris Management Plan.
- D3.3 Project Objectives:
- (a) Clearly define the role of debris management within the City's emergency response system
 - (b) Characterize the debris anticipated to be generated from disaster events
 - (c) Understand the City's existing capacity for, and gaps in, managing disaster debris
 - (d) Identify available additional resources
 - (e) Minimize impacts to the City's waste management operations
 - (f) Maximize diversion opportunities
 - (g) Establish templates and procedures for debris management
 - (h) Establish communication protocols and tools
